REMARKABLE POINTS ON THE MARKET

The market gained further on Monday. The liquidity was still high, but buyers' control wasn't as strong. VN-Index struggled within a small range around 1,100 points in most trading time with focus on VCB's gain to above history peak. This code alone contributed over 50% in VN-Index's gain today. Meanwhile, most other codes in banking and securities were sold after the strong gain on Friday. And the cash flow tended to move to pillar codes that haven't gained or gained slightly previously like MSN, POW, GAS, and EPT. For midcap and penny codes, the trend was consistent in each group. In which, some remarkable gainers today were power, aqua products, textile, steel, petro, fertilizer, and coal.

TECHNICAL POINT OF VIEW

In technical term, VN-Index saw the 3rd gain in a row. The volume stayed above 10 and 20-session average, showing strong cash flow. Not just that, the index closed above MA5, and MA5, 10, and 20 differentiated positively, showing that short-term recovering trend is still there. Moreover, MACD increased to above Signal, supporting buying sign, and +DI widened the gap above -DI, showing that the gain is still quite strong, and the index might move to challenge 1,100-1,120 points (peak of January 2023). However, the index surpassed upper Bollinger band, and RSI stayed above over buying zone of 72, showing that the gaining trend is a little too much and the index might need a few technical corrections to support the main trend, with support level around MA5. Therefore, investors should consider taking profit on strong gainers and consider joining during technical shakes. For HNX, HNX-Index saw similar situation. The index saw the 9th gain in a row and stayed above MA5, which differentiated positively from MA20, showing that short-term recovering trend is still there, and the index might move to challenge sentimental level of 250 points. In general, the market is on short-term recovering trend. Therefore, investors might continue surfing with main target on good fundamental codes with positive business prospect that can attract the cash flow.
